

THE HABITS OF CHARLES, THE PRINCE OF WALES

The Prince of Wales's most important job is to always support the Queen and be exemplary. The English are always proud of their royalty.

Official opening of Parliament, in the House of Lords at the Palace of Westminster in London on October 14, 2019 - Agency / Bastimage

The Prince often represents The Queen to welcome Heads of State visiting the United Kingdom.

The Prince often represents The Queen and the United Kingdom around the world.

Prince Charles delivered a speech at the State Dinner (photo: Tim Rooke/PA Wire/ABACAPRESS.COM)

Charles always participates in the Trooping the Colour ceremony. It's a part of Her Majesty's birthday celebration.

Charles and Camilla at the Trooping the Colour ceremony, June 13, 2015 – Agency / Bastimage

The prince usually finds solutions for The Prince of Wales's Charities to work for international causes. He often visits his charities.

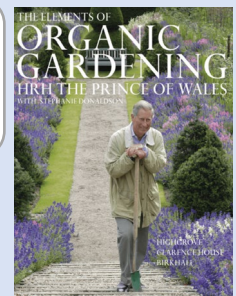

<https://www.princeofwales.gov.uk/prince-wales-charities-update> - March 9, 2018

Prince Charles, Watercolourist

The prince is a passionate watercolourist, and he sometimes paints when he has time. He is famous for his paintings.

He also enjoys gardening in his organic garden as often as he can. The prince has always been a great defender of the environment.

Cover of the book "The Elements of Organic Gardening"!

Prince Charles at a concert by the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra of London – Nunn Syndication / News Pictures

The prince regularly goes to the theatre, opera, and symphony concerts.

About unusual prince routine:

- Every morning, a valet puts exactly 2 centimetres of toothpaste on his toothbrush. He also prepares a bath for the prince every morning. Charles's day always starts at 8:30 a.m.
- The prince can change his costume sometimes 8 times a day.
- During official visits overseas, he often takes with him his orthopaedic bed, his chest of drawers and some paintings.

Because the Prince has a driver, he rarely drives cars.

Photo: Telegraph

I am sure he never plays computer games.

Sources:

- <https://www.royal.uk/the-prince-of-wales>
- <https://www.princeofwales.gov.uk/>
- <https://madame.lefigaro.fr/personnalite/prince-charles-1>